Boundless Possibility in Historic Longford Lodge

Every so often, a truly unique property emerges, one with an unmistakable character and rich local history. Known as the Longford Lodge and formerly the 'Lake Masonic Lodge', this extraordinary property is set in the heart of Longford, one of Northern Tasmania's most historic towns.

Built in 1929, this landmark building holds tremendous potential for creative revitalisation. Inside, you'll find two expansive hall-like chambers, a welcoming foyer, a kitchen and kitchenette, multiple restrooms, and a flexible loft space, all offering countless possibilities. Zoned 'Community Purpose', the property is primed for a variety of uses, including health, educational, cultural, and social activities, with additional opportunities available through discretionary planning.

Over the years, Longford Lodge has hosted an array of events, from music performances to art exhibitions, attracting visitors from across the country and internationally.

With its timber floors, grand main chamber featuring a vaulted ceiling, and the enduring appeal of a local icon, this historic property stands ready for its next chapter. Its unique character and rich legacy make this a rare opportunity not to be overlooked.
