Looking for a home with "character"? Well, this 1968 classic timber-frame gem has character in spades-and by "character," we mean it needs a little (okay, a LOT) of love. Step inside, and you'll be transported back to a simpler time, where avocado green was all the rage, and insulation was... optional. Sure, it may have a few, um, "quirks," but imagine the satisfaction of bringing this beauty back to life! It's a full DIY project waiting for someone with vision, courage, and probably a sledgehammer. The roof's still up there (mostly), the floors have "experience," and the walls? They're just waiting for someone to strip them back to the studs. If you're looking to channel your inner renovator and turn "vintage" into "vibrant," this one's calling your name. Grab your overalls, bring your toolbox, and let's get to work!
