Escape to a serene countryside haven at 55 Main Creek Road, Red Hill, where the gentle undulations of the land and a vibrant natural tapestry invite you to relax and reconnect. This charming homestead is set on a sprawling allotment of approximately 1,924m², offering unparalleled privacy and a lifestyle immersed in peace and tranquillity. At the heart of this retreat lies a coastal cream and navy single-story home, exuding timeless charm. Stone-paved paths lead you to the front porch, where French doors welcome you inside. The interiors radiate warmth, with 9ft ceilings, decorative cornices, skylights, and laminate flooring creating a seamless flow through the open-plan living spaces. A cosy fireplace invites you to unwind on cooler evenings, while the well-appointed kitchen with its electric cooktop, oven, and generous pantry is perfect for preparing farm-to-table meals inspired by the region's local produce. The home features three lovely appointed bedrooms. The master suite opens to the front porch through elegant French doors and boasts a private ensuite illuminated by a skylight. Two additional bedrooms offer comfort and charm, with one providing direct access to the front garden-ideal for a morning coffee among the blooms. Step outside to the Tasmanian oak timber deck where you can savour a glass of wine while soaking in the serene surroundings. Children and pets can roam freely in the secure, lush grounds. A separate studio with breathtaking views of a nearby winery provides a versatile space for an artist's retreat, a Pilates studio, or a serene sanctuary. Sustainable living is woven into the fabric of the property with 5kW solar panels, a heat pump hot water system, and tank water storage. Perfectly positioned close to Red Hill Village, renowned wineries, horse riding and walking trails, schools, parks, and both bay and surf beaches, this property offers the ultimate balance of rural seclusion and modern convenience. With freeway access just 10 minutes away, you can effortlessly enjoy all the Mornington Peninsula has to offer. This is your opportunity to own a charming rural retreat in the heart of Red Hill's rolling hills-a place where nature soothes the soul and tranquillity abounds. Don't miss the chance to roam freely and embrace the quintessential Red Hill lifestyle.
