Retreat House

Imbued with accolade, Retreat House embodies tranquillity in a landmark collaboration between Latitude 37 and Aych Architects. Indulging in rich natural textures, a generous sense of scale maintains intimacy with panoramic garden aspects across both levels of the home. Serene and sumptuous, the location celebrates Mount Eliza's esteemed identity as a luxurious coastal haven.

Harmonised with the landscape, a trio of alfresco spaces expand the home's internal floorplan with a cool summer breeze and intuitive functionality. Showcasing natural stone as the centrepiece of premium natural textures, the kitchen presents an ode to the entertainer with a suite of Wolf appliances, Sub-Zero fridges and butler's pantry. Open through glass sliders the central alfresco hosts an outdoor kitchen to balance summertime entertaining. Defined with floor-to-ceiling glazing and a gas fireplace the lounge room embodies an intimate character nestled beyond a built-in wet bar (with wine storage) and integrated office.

Poised with privacy at entry level the main bedroom continues the striking contrast of a monochromatic palette. Concealed at first glance, a walk-in wardrobe complements the bold tones of the ensuite bathroom where the residence's signature stone meets dual Alape Sondo basins. Accessible via an elevator the lower-level invites friends and family to indulge in the luxury of this residence with four additional bedrooms (including a second master) which unfold beyond a second living space. Echoing the ensuite above, bathrooms present bespoke stone, basins and fluted glass accents.

Earning the home's namesake, the pool melts into the landscape offering a true retreat. Equipped with a bathroom and kitchenette the pool house ensures versatility as the home transforms from private oasis to host landmark celebrations.

Promising space for vehicle storage of every size the residence includes direct access via the oversized garage, as well as secure storage for a boat/caravan. Moments from the village, and walking distance from the Ranelagh club, Retreat House redefines a place to call home.
