A Coastal Classic

Step back in time with this quintessential 1954 beach shack, one of the last remaining gems from its era in Bicheno.

Located at 6 Lovett Street, this charming home embodies the nostalgic spirit of simpler days spent by the ocean, fishing, surfing, or exploring the rocky coastline. With its iconic skillion roof and timeless design, this property is highly sought-after, appealing to those who value a true coastal retreat.

While maintaining its classic character, this 3-bedroom home has been thoughtfully updated with modern comforts including a cozy wood heater, heat pump, and fresh painting. The Tas Oak floorboards are in pristine condition, adding warmth and personality throughout the interior. The spacious central deck, which connects the main home to the sleepout, serves as an inviting entertainment hub, featuring a sun-drenched, partially roofed area with a servery straight from the kitchen. This is the perfect spot for entertaining or relaxing, sheltered from the winds and ready for year-round enjoyment.

The sleepout offers flexibility as a fourth bedroom, home office, or study, accommodating a variety of lifestyle needs. Outside, a large shed, carport, and dedicated Man/Woman cave provide ample storage and space for your boat, caravan, or other toys.

Ideally situated in the heart of Bicheno, you're just a short stroll from the beaches and local amenities, with the fresh sea breeze and ocean sounds as your daily backdrop.

Whether you're seeking a beachside escape, a holiday home, or a slice of Bicheno history, this property is truly one-of-a-kind.

Point so note:

- Land size 994m²
- Zoning General Residential
- Wood heater and a heat pump
- Massive shed for toys, boat or caravan
- Central entertainers deck
- Close to all services
- Easy care gardens
