This property was negotiated off-market by Nick Van Venrooy and Scott Robertson, leveraging our extensive database of buyers who were actively looking for a property just like this one. By connecting with interested buyers prior to listing the property publicly, we were able to secure a successful transaction without the need for an open market campaign. Even after completing this sale, we have a list of potential buyers still looking for similar opportunities. As a family-run business with 25 years of local experience, we pride ourselves on our ability to deliver results at the highest level. We understand that each client's needs are unique, and that's why we approach every sale, focusing on the specific needs of each individual client and providing exceptional customer service. We're excited about the opportunity to work with you in 2025 and help you navigate the property market with confidence and success. Contact us today for an obligation free market appraisal!
